From the Desk of Mr. Murr...

Valentine's Day is confusing at schools! A boy who loved her last week doesn't today, because he loves someone else. How do we teach our children? They may hear at weddings that a couple wants to be married because of how the other one makes them feel. This is why I wanted to be with Angela! Rarely do they hear, "I want to get married because of what one can give." Romans 5 tells us that God shows His love for us in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us. It's centered on what He gave. God shows us and then tells us to follow His example. We are not likely to have to give up our lives, but to put others' needs above our own. Self-denial is a difficult thing to practice, yet it describes the Christian life. It is both a genuine demonstration of love and a result of growing in a relationship with Christ. He chose us! He loved us long before we loved Him. I pray my loved ones see that in me.
